

I am appalled to see how much power is vested in so few media outlets, and even more so to see a media giant like Sinclair able to present a partisan political viewpoint on public airwaves so close to an election, without fair representation of the opposing point of view. Airing "Stolen Honor" is clearly an outrageous abuse of public trust.

If this anti-Kerry show is allowed to be aired, the only fair response is to air an equally pro-Kerry program in a favorable time slot, and equally close to the election. Or pull them both, which I would prefer. Let's respect the intelligence of Americans enough to let them make their voting decision on equitable terms, and through intelligent debate, not the skewed view of one party or another.

Thank you,
